1 in 3 Missouri Homes Have Elevated Radon Results

Radon is a naturally-occurring colorless and odorless gas that is found throughout Missouri. Radon can build up in any home or building, whether it has a basement, is sealed or drafty, or is new or old. Elevated radon levels are associated with an increased risk of lung cancer. Learn more here:

I hear a lot of MCH-related organizations talk about AMCHP- what does that stand for and what is it?

AMCHP stands for Association of Maternal and Child Health Programs. The mission of AMCHP is to advance the health of women, children, youth, families, and communities by strengthening governmental public health and deepening community partnerships through a health equity lens.

AMCHP supports its members and the broader public health community by disseminating best practices; advocating on their behalf in Washington; providing technical assistance; convening leaders to share experiences and ideas; and advising states about involving partners to reach our common goal of healthy children, healthy families, and healthy communities.
